

How To Use

This book is designed to be used with The Great Editing Adventure series Volume I (Teacher Book). For complete instructions, see pages iii and iv of that book.

Page ii of this book is a blank lined page. This page may be photocopied in the event that your student needs additional space to perform the lessons. Of course lined notebook paper is an acceptable substitute.

Vocabulary words, circled in the “blackboard” section of each lesson in which they appear, are also found at the bottom of the corresponding lesson, with room for your student to write the word’s definition.

Your student should have a synonym ready for any underlined word. Be sure to have a thesaurus available. Synonyms for these words are provided in the Teacher Book.

It is our sincere hope that you and your student thoroughly enjoy these Great Editing Adventures!

Incredibly Kooky Inventions

Lesson 1

For the next several weeks this spot will be packed with astounding stories of strange and amazing american inventions.

astounding -

Lesson 2 - Invention #1

On June 3 1897 Mr John Sievers Jr. erected a figure of a cow in his back pasture.

erected -

Lesson 3

As the heard of cattle talked about the strange new phenomenon, one young heifer suggested that Mr. Sievers had developed insulated underwear for them to wear during the Winter months.

phenomenon -
